Impact

September baseline data and observational information identified that the current school cohort were significantly delayed in personal, social and emotional development with significant difficulties in regulating; this impacted on behaviour. Additional adults have been included across the 2 classes to support the behaviour and emotional regulation of the children and to provide nurture group interventions. This has impacted positively on progress in PSED so far and behavioural incidents are reducing. Training for staff has built upon previous attachment training and training provided by Headteacher on conflict resolution. All centre staff were invited with the aim of developing consistency of understanding and approach by all adults. The training also links with environmental changes currently underway for the Attachment and Trauma Sensitive Schools Award.
